4 Communication Challenges facing NZ Businesses

EMPLOYEE ENGAGEMENT

Collaboration tools are required to effectively tie together and promote teamwork among dispersed workers. A communication system is required that keeps pace with the new mobile work style.

FLEXIBILITY

Many kiwi businesses are finding that their traditional phone systems aren't reliable or flexible enough to meet changing patterns of work and customer needs.

MAINTENANCE

Existing telephone systems that have become obsolete, expensive, and labour intensive to manage.

RELIABILITY

In a country of many natural hazards, kiwi business want a system that can continue in the worst of circumstances.
